LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the class of nineteen hundred and sixty-four of Industry High School, having no future plans for these possessions, do hereby will them to the following and hope they find use for them.

I, Linda Bainter, will my ability to hit a baseball to anyone who can use it.
I, Emma Corey, will my ability to wear such a pretty class ring and ride in a red Galaxie to anyone who thinks it would be nice.
I, Janice Dean, will my reputation of being the tallest girl in high school to Linda Pollock who seems to be next in line. Carry on, Linda!
I, Mike Fair, will my power to control my temper to Paul Fowler who evidently needs it.
I, Maureen Fowler, will my ability to be in a class of all boys to any girl who thinks she deserves this PRIVILEGE.
I, Sandra Greenplate, will my cold hands and ability to collect bruises to the girls in Mrs. Neeley's P.E. classes.
I, Jim Haney, will my ability to keep quiet in seventh hour study hall to Becky Pollock.
I, Connie Kendrick, will my no nightly pin-ups to all the girls who have them.
I, Joe Lawyer, will my huge size to next year's football team and hope they can use it to win more games.
I, Rick Jones, will my "good" luck in playing Avon in football to my brother Randy.
I, Richard Plank, will my ability to succeed without really trying to Randy Jones.
I, Mona Rexroat, will my ability to play drums to the percussion section which needs it.
I, Bill Roe, will my ability to get along with Mrs. Neeley to Jim Forman and Skip Bedwell.
I, Jerry Sears, will my blond curly hair to Pam Gray.
I, Joyce Simpson, will my quietness to all the noisy underclassmen and hope they put it to good use.
I, Karen Skiles, will my talking ability to Sandy Frakes and hope she uses it as well as I.
I, Susan Stoner, will my long fingernails to Norma Chockley so she can be even more dangerous in P.E.
I, Kay Toland, will my ability to tell Connie and Bonnie Aten apart to anyone who can't.
I, Russell Vail, will my size and my ability to get along with girls to John Sullivan and hope he puts them to good use.
We, the Senior Class, will our ability to put on one successful class play to the Junior Class.
We, the Senior Class, will our ability to take second place in the homecoming parade to the Sophomore Class.
We, the Senior Class, will our ability to complete four years of high school successfully to the Freshman Class.
We, the Senior Class, will Sam Farr our surplus energy to help him stamp out dust.
We, the Senior Class, will the memory of an intelligent, well-disciplined class to the faculty.
We, the Senior Class of Industry High, declare this will to be legally in the best order on this 2nd day of June, in the year of our Lord, 1964.

CLASS HISTORY

In August of 1960, 25 excited freshmen boarded the Airship Industry High. In the cockpit to guide them on a safe journey into outer space were the pilot, Rick Jones; co-pilot, Russell Vail; flight recorder, Kay Toland; and finance reporter, Janice Dean. Also on the flight were some VIPs: student council members Sandra Greenplate, Jerry Sears, and Bill Roe. Orders from 'quarters' came from their advisers Margaret Neeley and Sudie Mullins. Even in such good hands as these, three of the passengers that year didn't feel safe on board the plane and parachuted out. They were Janice Plank, who transferred to the Airship Macomb High, Anna Mae Herring, who transferred to the Airship Northwestern, and Ronnie Creasey, who parachuted to the farm.

Still up in the air in August of 1961, the 23 brave sophomores carried on their journey. The only thing new was the crew. They were: pilot, Russell Vail; co-pilot, Jerry Sears; flight recorder, Susan Stoner; and finance reporter, Sandra Greenplate. The VIPs this year were Linda Bainter and Richard Plank. Still nearby giving helpful flight suggestions were their advisers Margaret Neeley and Sudie Mullins. Even with a fine staff such as this, they found at the end of the year that they were missing two from their passenger list. They were Gwen Aten, who transferred to the Airship Bushnell-Prairie City High, and Mike Woodside, who parachuted to the farm.

Flying the 21 juniors into the year of 1962 were: pilot, Joe Lawyer; co-pilot, Jerry Sears; flight recorder, Sandra Greenplate; and finance reporter, Russell Vail. The VIPs this year were Susan Stoner, Linda Bainter, and Richard Plank. Still watching and wondering about them were their advisers Margaret Neeley and Sudie Mullins. Fellow passenger Neil Skiles parachuted out and went to work on the farm.

In September of 1963, the 19 confident seniors entered the last year of their flight with a capable crew: pilot, Rick Jones; co-pilot, Bill Roe; flight recorder, Susan Stoner; and finance reporter, Russell Vail. The VIPs this year were Kay Toland, Sandra Greenplate, Joe Lawyer, and Richard Plank. On hand to welcome them home from their flight were their advisers Margaret Neeley and Willard Fryrear.

Upon asking the seniors if they encountered any obstacles during their flight, they said "No," but they did admit that they came very close to the moon a few times with some of their "high flying" ideas; however, the flight was very pleasant and one to be long remembered.

SENIOR STUDENTS graduating with a B or better average: Richard Plank, Russell Vail, Janice Dean, Susan Stoner, Sandra Greenplate, Kay Toland, Emma Corey, Karen Skiles.

The Industry Grade School Lightweights played extremely well this year, winning 12 games and losing 3, and we think they deserve special recognition for placing second in the McDonough County Lightweight Tournament. The grade school teams are coached by Mr. Coultas. A picture showing all the boys and their trophy is on page 60.
